our youth through community services!

COMMUNITY SPECIALISTS

A Community Specialist is involved with youth from the moment they enter the juvenile justice system until they complete probation and parole. Their versatility makes them effective in a variety of settings, whether it's the courtroom or the neighborhood. Community Specialists conduct screening interviews, assess risk factors and needs for the young person, and help coordinate a variety of services for the youth and families they serve. DJJ's Community Specialists are true advocates for both youth offenders and entire communities, as they balance the safety and needs of both in order for everyone to succeed and grow. DJJ is looking for Community Specialists with a heart for serving youth and a tenacity to ensure the best services and supervision are provided.
